Within these crumbling walls resides a hidden world, a vibrant community of individuals who have found refuge from the unforgiving streets. They are the homeless, the mentally ill, the addicted, the invisible ones who often slip through society's cracks. But here, within the confines of Hotel Penicillina, they find acceptance, dignity, and a glimmer of hope.

A Glimpse into Their Lives

As we step into this extraordinary space, we encounter an eclectic group of characters, each with a unique story to tell. There's Marco, a former chef who lost everything to addiction and now finds solace in painting the factory's crumbling walls with vibrant murals. His art serves as a poignant reminder of the beauty that can emerge even in the darkest of places.

Then there's Maria, a gentle soul struggling with mental illness. She finds peace in the factory's dilapidated gardens, where she tends to vibrant flowers that bring a splash of color to the otherwise somber setting. Her story highlights the importance of providing a safe and nurturing environment for those suffering from mental health challenges.

And let's not forget Giovanni, a homeless man who has made Hotel Penicillina his home for the past several years. Despite the hardships he has faced, Giovanni remains optimistic and always willing to lend a helping hand to his fellow residents. His story exemplifies the indomitable spirit that resides within us all, even in the face of adversity.

The factory's vast, open spaces provide ample room for activities and workshops, fostering a sense of purpose and connection among the residents. From painting to music to writing, each individual finds a way to express themselves and discover hidden talents.

A Beacon of Hope in the Shadows
